

Donor Privacy Statement for One Hundred Miles

One Hundred Miles is committed to respecting the privacy of our financial and in-kind donors, whether the donation is made online, by mail, or any other method.

Donor Information

When you make a donation to One Hundred Miles, either online, by postal mail or by telephone, we collect and store personal information from you such as name, address, telephone number, and email address for the purposes of processing your donation, sending your tax-deductible receipt(s) and keeping you informed about how your support is making a difference for Georgia's coast.

We use one or more third party financial institutions to process credit card and/or ETF donations. They receive your credit card and bank information to process these donations in a secure environment, but it is not stored by One Hundred Miles.

Sharing Your Personal Information

One Hundred Miles may use service providers, such as consultants, to carry out certain activities on our behalf. They may be granted access to the personal information necessary to enable them to do their job, but will not use or disclose the information for any other purpose. We also reserve the right to disclose specific information when we determine that such disclosure is necessary to comply with the law or to protect the interests or safety of One Hundred Miles, our donors, our partners, or others. One Hundred Miles does not sell or rent active donor personal information.

Communication Preferences

One Hundred Miles contacts donors through direct mail, email, and by telephone. Any donor may request that we remove them from our mailing list and/or specify their preferred method of contact.

Contact Us

If you have questions or comments about our donor privacy statement, please send an email to beth@onehundredmiles.org or call us at 912-264-4111.

Changes to the Privacy Policy

One Hundred Miles, Inc. reserves the right to revise this Privacy Statement. When we do, we will note the last update at the bottom of this page.
